

REDRESS' director, Carla Ferstman will be taking up a senior university teaching post in the UK in 2018. Sadly, this means that she will have to reduce her commitment to REDRESS and will step down as Director from January 2018, although she will be staying with us to support cases and relationships as needed.

She will always be a close friend of REDRESS, having directed it with great success for over half its life, and there will be a full occasion later to celebrate all that she has achieved.

We are now launching a recruitment process for a new director.

Paul Lomas, Chair of REDRESS, on behalf of the Board of Trustees
